Foreign Exchange Services for Corporate Aviation Clients

Foreign Exchange, FX, has always been a major issue for aviation companies trading with overseas customers and suppliers.

By using AFEX Aviation, you will be able to take advantage of our unrivalled knowledge of the aviation industry and FX markets. The aviation division focuses solely on all areas of the aviation industry and has a good understanding of what requirements might be needed.

Currency fluctuations can be a deal breaker in any industry but with the purchase of an aircraft or helicopter having been carefully costed, negotiated and sourced any movement in the currency market can lead to an unaffordable deal. Exchange rates now fluctuate faster than ever, leading to increased risk and potential losses for the company or clients concerned.

Associated Foreign Exchange, AFEX, has been offering it's clients an economical means of managing international payments since 1979. Unlike other financial institutions where foreign exchange may be supplemental to their core business, AFEX Aviation specialises exclusively in the business of foreign currency conversion and global remittances.

The tailor made corporate service

Our tailor made corporate service is exactly what it says; whatever you or your clients requirements are, we can assist you. Every company and individual's requirements are different and we will treat them in that manner.

Amongst our services offered, we provide corporate clients with the following:

- Bespoke trading solutions.
- Direct access to our corporate dealers.
- Immediate execution of trades.
- Continuous monitoring of exchange rates
- The ability to trade outside normal banking hours.
- Stop loss and limit order facilities.
- Expert analysis of developing trends and market outlook.
- Real time information made available to you and constantly updated.
- Daily or weekly market reports.

Forward planning

As well as 'spot' and 'forward' contracts, we offer facilities to buy or sell foreign currency at pre-determined prices – known as limit orders. This will enable you to protect against adverse currency movements, yet take advantage of enhanced exchange rates when these are available.

Speed of delivery

AFEX Aviation operates the latest back office systems to ensure rapid delivery of your funds to any country in the world. Most US Dollars and Pound Sterling payments can be instructed for same day value and Euros next day value.

Upon execution of each foreign exchange deal AFEX can immediately confirm the details by e-mail or fax, along with your onward payment instructions. We monitor all transactions through real-time banking. Once we have received your cleared funds into our client account we immediately forward your currency to the beneficiary.

Foreign drafts can be issued on most currencies and amounts, which are then sent by registered post the following day.
